

SAS Journal

May 9, 2008

Dear Dr. Sherman and Team of Authors:

(J. Sherman, P. Donkersloot, F. Martens, M. Ahrens, H. Halm, A. Tsantrizos, H. Yuan, J.C. LeHuec)

TITLE: Two Year Interim European Clinical Results of Nucleus Replacement
Using an In Situ Cured, Balloon Contained, Injectable Polyurethane Device

“Recipient of the 2008 Best Clinical Paper”

Congratulations on achieving his honor of distinction! You have been recognized for your outstanding work, and the Editorial Board of the SAS Journal joins your peers in commending you for your exceptional professional efforts.

We must inform you that there is an obligation attached to your award. In order to broadly share the results of your work with scientists and surgeons, you need to submit your research paper in manuscript form to the SAS Journal for publication in an upcoming issue.

The SAS Administrative Staff will forward a copy of your abstract to the journal team, however, you will still have to submit your manuscript online, we direct you to the journal site: <http://www.sasjournal.com>. You will find a link to our online manuscript management platform, where there are submission instructions, forms, and manuscript requirements. Please register as a new user. If you have any questions, contact Christine Oots at Christine@sasjournal.com.

Again, congratulations on your achievement. We look forward to reading your manuscript.

Respectfully,

Hansen Yuan, MD
Editor in Chief
SAS Journal

Kristy Radcliffe
Executive Director
Spine Arthroplasty Society

Christine Oots, MS
Managing Editor
SAS Journal
Christine@sasjournal.com